Presentation

A very classic Michel Couvreur single malt: very old, full flavors, spicy, concentrated, amazing long after taste with a touch of roasted coffee bean coming from the oxydized old PX.
It's a really good witness of malt whisky left a long time in a very old Amontillado wine cask.
That shows a very nice balance between the mellow and the roasted and complex touch that could remind tobacco and cigars.

Bottled at natural strength, 800 bottles made the 22nd October 2024 only.
